Subject: AF& Sons Reference

Over the last eight years, AF& Sons have done various construction work for me, ranging from small repairs to rebuilding my den and updating my bathroom. Their prices have consistently been competitive with others, (And I did compare.) The work is always done well; the process is timely, workers arrive when expected; the workplace is kept neat.

One can say all of the above should be expected. What is extraordinary about AF&Sons is the owner, Greg Filipone, and all of his "people" from those who direct the work to those who are a pleasure to have work in your home. Everyone is available, helpful and truly there for you. I know I can call anyone of them for advice and for assistance. They actually helped me find the right company to replace my windows. For any problem or question, I think to call them first.

One experience says it all. Years ago, AF was about to finish the final touches on our den. The work had come to a halt because my husband was hospitalized, and I was with him at the hospital. When it became clear that death was imminent, I called to ask if they could quickly complete the moldings since my house would soon become a house of mourning. The response—not to worry, it would be taken care of. The next day everything was completed perfectly.

I have referred several of my friends to AF& Sons; all have had the same experience. Two of my neighbors had extensive work done; here again, all have been more than pleased. I would be happy to answer any further questions.

Sincerely,
